To Whom It May Concern:

It is a pleasure to comment on the Responsible Gaming Program that has been developed at Remington Park Racetrack and Casino (Global Gaming RP, LLC) in Oklahoma City, OK, a property of Global Gaming Solutions, LLC.

My comments are based on close observation of the program as well as familiarity with its development over almost a decade. These observations have included interviews of the program's First Responders and attendance at their training programs. Many of these observations have been unannounced and, thus, I believe I have a very realistic understanding of the program's actual operation and effectiveness. In other words, I have seen the results of the training in the environment where it is intended to be effective.

The professional background that my comments are based in include a forty year career in the addictions field, including formal credentialing, and some twenty five years in the gambling addiction field in which I am also credentialed (e.g. as a gambling addiction counselor and supervisor). I have been a consultant, over the years, to racetracks (e.g. Churchill Downs Inc, NYRA), racinos (e.g. Ruidoso Downs, Hoosier Park), state operated Lotteries (e.g. Kentucky, Ohio, New Brunswick), charitable gaming (KY), the Association of Racing Commissioners International (ARCI, recipient of the William H. May Award), the National Gaming Impact Study Commission and the NCLGS equivalent, Councils on Problem Gambling (e.g. founder of the KY Council on Problem Gambling, representative to the National Council on Problem Gambling), the National Thoroughbred Racing Association (NTRA), and account wagering businesses (e.g. TVG and Youbet.com AWARE Programs.) With Eclipse Award winner Don Clippinger, I am co-author of the Responsible Wagering Resource Guide for Racetrack Managers which remains the industry's standard publication. Mr. Clippinger and I, most recently, summarized our personal journey, since 1989, in developing First Responders for gaming businesses that must deal with patrons who experience gambling disorders (NCPG Newsletter Volume 17 Issue 1, 2014). This, we intended to be a blueprint for racinos and casinos that aspire to having a true, state of the art Responsible Gaming Program.

It is my opinion that the Problem Gambler Assistance Program that has been developed at Remington Park stands head and shoulders above the majority of such programs that exist today and easily ranks with, or exceeds, the very best of them. In addition to the company's adoption of an excellent model, this is accounted for by two interrelated factors. First, from the beginning there has been firm support for the program by top management, especially Mr. Scott Wells, who is a veteran of successful operations in horse racing and who has expanded his expertise into racino operations. There has never been a need of the program that has not been met and new initiatives have been encouraged.

Second, the Director of Compliance for the organization, Mr. Lloyd Rolfes, is experienced in casino operations, including Responsible Gaming Programs, and he has been dedicated to going well beyond the minimum of required practice that I have observed at scores of gambling operations. While these leaders have no doubt about the need for their business to be profitable, they are also aware that there is a moral standard to be met in dealing with any gambling addiction that was not prevented. This is a rare combination of motivations, in my experience.

Before Global Gaming Solutions, LLC acquired Remington Park, the Problem Gambler Assistance Program was in place and functioning. To its great credit, the new owner not only endorsed the existing program but encouraged its being established as a standard for any other properties that it might operate. There is no doubt in my mind that the Problem Gambler Assistance Program that I have observed and evaluated will be established at any new properties that the company may develop.

With regard to my comment about recognition of a moral standard it is, in my opinion, incumbent on a gambling operation that is endorsed by state government to demonstrate this concern, as Global Gaming Solutions has. I am confident that any facility that Global Gaming Solutions is associated with will reflect this concern for the gambler and his or her family.

I trust that the foregoing has been helpful. If I may provide further clarification, please let me know.

Sincerely,

Curtis L. Barrett, Ph.D., ABPP

The Chickasaw Nation,
Office of the Gaming Commissioner
Self-Exclusion Program

What is the Self-Exclusion Program?

The program was established in 2005 to allow people with a gambling problem to voluntarily exclude themselves from gambling in any Chickasaw Nation gaming facility. For more information, you can contact the Office of the Gaming Commissioner about the program.

How does an individual get placed on the self-exclusion list?

An individual must fill out a "Request for Self Exclusion Form" and submit it in person to the Chickasaw Nation, Office of the Gaming Commissioner at its Ada, Goldsby or Winstar offices, to any security at any Chickasaw Nation Gaming facility, or local facility management. When an individual files the form, he/she will be required to provide identification (with a copy of such identification placed with the form) and should be photographed if at all possible.

Can an individual just mail back the completed application?

No. An Individual must submit it in person. This is for his/her own protection.

The Chickasaw Nation,
Office of the Gaming Commissioner
Self-Exclusion Program

Can a person request his/her spouse or an elderly parent with a gambling problem be excluded?

No. A person cannot request anyone else be excluded. The Self exclusion program is entirely voluntary and must be done by the individual seeking exclusion.

What will happen after an individual signs up for self-exclusion?

The gaming commissioner will accept such request and then notify the individual that he/she has been barred from all Chickasaw nation gaming facilities.

The CNOGC will distribute a photograph and description of the individual to each gaming facility. The gaming facilities will then remove the individual from any mailing lists and make notations in their computer files that the individual is ineligible for any kind of complimentary service.

What will happen if an individual tries to gamble in a gaming facility while he/she is on the Barred individual list?

After an individual is placed on the "Barred Individual" list, a gaming facility should refuse to accept his/her wagers and ask the individual to leave the gaming area. If he/she does gamble, the individual is unable to collect winnings or recover any losses.

Some Mistaken Beliefs

Problem Gamblers have:

- > I won big once and I can do it again!
- > This time I will win and make everything right!
- > I've got it figured out this time!
- > I am going to win because I feel lucky!
- > It is their fault I lost!
- > I can beat the odds!
- > I am due!
- > I just need a little bit of a run!
- > I can't stop!
- > I am weak!
- > I am a failure!
- > I ruined everything!
- > There is no hope for me!

The first step in dealing with a gambling problem is to admit the possibility of a gambling problem and make an appointment with a counselor for an assessment of your gambling behavior.
