

Exhibit X.A.6 Historical Efforts Against Problem Gambling MOHEGAN SUN AT THE CONCORD

More than eight months before our doors opened at our world class property in Connecticut in 1996 Mohegan Sun established and began building a relationship with the Connecticut Council on Compulsive Gambling. At that time, the Connecticut Council, under the direction of Executive Director Marvin Steinberg, Ph.D., sent a letter to Tribal Chairman Roland Harris and a lasting and growing commitment was established. That letter is Attachment X.A.6.1.

This advance commitment by the Tribal leadership, which we believe to be unprecedented among casinos at that time, was further embraced by the operational leadership of General Manager Bill Velardo. Bill was an established, mature and compassionate business leader. He understood that problem and compulsive gambling behavior was a genuine health risk for a certain portion of the gambling patrons. Under his leadership, Mohegan Sun senior staff developed an understanding and began to take an active position with mental health agencies, academic research and internal training programs. We developed detailed training programs for our staff which are shown elsewhere in this section of the application and we have carried this philosophy and messaging to Pennsylvania in 2006 and working with our team in New Jersey to establish an equal commitment there.

In the years since we opened, we have worked with the Connecticut Council:

1. To develop training for our entire staff and that training is updated and issued annually as detailed on Attachment X.A.1.2 and X.A.3.1.
2. To help design the self-exclusion processes and accompanying documentation.
3. To help design the informational brochures supporting awareness self-help.
4. To voluntarily install business card size help line dispensers at highly visible locations when exiting our restrooms as detailed on Attachment X.A.6.2.
5. To assist in the Council's membership for the National Council on Problem Gambling by paying the $5,000 membership fee each year.
6. To support the Council's efforts to provide help line assistance and services to problem gamblers by providing annual funding.
7. By providing approximately $350,000 in funding in the latest fiscal year.
8. By providing nearly $4,000,000 since 1996 in annual funding support.
9. By funding the annual agency luncheon costing approximately $5,000.
10. By meeting quarterly with the Director (currently Mary Drexler) and the team from the Council to remain current on processes, studies and research.
11. To win their trust and to serve as their partner for a better community as demonstrated by Mary Drexler letter, which is Attachment X.A.6.3.

A National Commitment

The team at Mohegan Sun has a national commitment to gambling-related problems. Our Chief Operating Officer at Mohegan Sun Connecticut, Ray Pineault, serves on the Board of Directors and as Treasurer for the National Council on Problem Gambling. In addition,

1. Mohegan Sun currently enjoys Gold Status membership with the National Council.

2. We contribute $60,000 in membership dues and fees to the National Council.
3. We have participated at the national level for over a decade.

Support For Academic Research

For more than a decade, we have funded an academic chair at Yale University. As detailed on Attachment X.A.6.4, Dr. Mark N. Potenza serves as the Director, Center of Excellence for Gaming Research, provides research in addictive and impulsive behaviors generally and more specifically Dr. Potenza works with gambling related behaviors. Among other titles, Dr. Potenza serves as the Director, Center of Excellence For Gambling Research. This academic chair at Yale is funded by Mohegan Sun annually with a $25,000 grant.

Supporting Programs In Pennsylvania and New Jersey

Mohegan Sun at Pocono Downs opened in November 2006 and has been an active supporter of the Pennsylvania Council on Compulsive Gambling since its inception, in annual funding, in service through its board of directors and in partnership with the Council's staff to provide training to Mohegan Sun's staff. We have contributed nearly $1 million to the Pennsylvania Council.

This past year, Mohegan Sun entered the New Jersey market. Recognizing that the staff awareness at Resorts, Atlantic City was marginal regarding gambling-related problems, our team has created a consulting arrangement with the original director for the New Jersey Council for Compulsive Gambling, Arnie Wexler. Mr. Wexler served as the Executive Director of the Council on Compulsive Gambling for eight years and, as a former compulsive gambler has used his experience to provide support to gamblers and training to industry staff for more than three decades. Our Resorts team will work with Mr. Wexler to continue our leadership efforts in dealing with gambling-related problems and to update and upgrade our training and awareness efforts in New Jersey.

Metrics

The effect of our efforts has been difficult to measure in a social way. We know that our training has resulted in providing the awareness, the identification and support of persons who wish to self-exclude and our teams have a greater understanding and empathy for the problems that some patrons face when they gamble beyond their means. In Attachment X.A.6.5, we show a sample of the metrics kept at Mohegan Sun at Pocono Downs which identifies not only the number of self-exclusions by year, but identifies such things as race, gender and age. In Pennsylvania we were able to provide analytical data on those persons who have been self-excluded in order to better understand their patterns of behavior as their destructive behavior escalated prior to self-exclusion. We believe such data will ultimately be helpful in educating youth about such self-destructive behavior, similar to education about abusing alcohol and drugs.

As these examples demonstrate, we place high importance on responsible gaming at Mohegan Sun and will continue with such efforts at Mohegan Sun at the Concord.
